Aurelia Skipwith Giacometto

Aurelia Skipwith Giacometto's biography could easily take up this entire page, so we have focused on the highlights. With over 20 years of experience in the areas of agriculture, wildlife conservation, and energy development, Aurelia began her career as a regulatory scientist, then obtained her law degree. Aurelia is currently a partner at E&W Law. Her practice focuses on matters before a range of federal agencies and topics as varied as endangered species, air and water pollution, and remediation. Aurelia previously served as Secretary of the Louisiana Department of Environmental Quality. She managed the environmental quality of air, water, and wastewater, the application of nuclear and radiation, solid waste disposal, and hazardous materials regulation. Aurelia also served as Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, where she led the agency to revolutionize business operations, improve service, and grant more access to federal lands to the American people, including hunters and anglers. Aurelia received a Master of Science in molecular genetics from Purdue University, and her J.D. from the University of Kentucky College of Law.
